UB Registered Dietitian Certified as Allertrain Master Trainer

Will provide instruction to CDS dining services staff on food allergies

(Buffalo, NY) – Campus Dining and Shops (CDS) at the University at Buffalo is pleased to announce that Registered Dietitian, Lori Bendersky has recently been certified as an Allertrain Master Trainer through Allertrain by MenuTrinfo, LLC. As an Allertrain Master Trainer, Bendersky will be able to teach and certify Dining Services staff on food allergies and celiac disease.

To become a certified master trainer, Bendersky had to complete the Allertrain course, take a full-day webinar through Allertrain and pass a comprehensive exam. Master trainers are chosen based on their knowledge of food allergies, food intolerances, and celiac disease. They must also have food industry and teaching experience. Allertrain's certified teaching programs, which are ANSI accredited, will enable Bendersky to keep CDS Dining Services staff up-to-date on the latest information as it pertains to food allergies and Celiac disease.

Lori Bendersky, MS, RD, CDN is a passionate Registered Dietitian who received her Bachelor's degree in Nutrition and Dietetics from Michigan State University and her Master of Science degree in Clinical Nutrition from the University at Buffalo. "This is another step that Campus Dining and Shops has taken to assure the safety of all of our customers," said Bendersky. "I enjoy providing nutritional analysis and allergen information for menus on campus and educating college students on the importance of eating balanced meals to support their busy, on-the-go lifestyles."
